PROROGUED!

Writes For New Elections to Parliament.

VALKYRIE AND BRITANNIA.

CAMBRIDGE--YALE MEET.

Populists and Woman's Rights

Cuba's Chances of Success.

Standard Telephone's Offer.

PARLIAMENT PROROGUED.

Salisbury Replies Sarcastically to Rosebery's Attack on the Lords.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript]
LONDON, July 6.—Both houses of parliament were prorogued at 2 p. m., today until the 24th. Writes for a new election will be issued Monday next. The Commons passed a bill appropriating money to the maintenance of the various public services until next parliament meets. The lords met at noon. Lord Salisbury said this was the last time the house would meet before the dissolution of the present parliament took place. He replied to the recent attack by Lord Rosebery on the house of lords. He declared that if the future career of house commons should be marked by such bills as were introduced in parliament justifying their close they might depend upon receiving strong opposition from the house of lords.

VALKYRIE WINS AGAIN.

Comes in Fifteen Minutes Ahead of the Britannia.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript]
HUNTER'S QUAY, SCOTLAND, July 6.—
The yachts Britannia, Ailsa and Valkyrie competed today for Her Majesty's cup.
The start was made at 10.30 o'clock in gentle breeze. Valkyrie had an easy lead in weather mark and rounded Skelmorlie mark at 11.30, five minutes ahead of Ailsa and six minutes ahead of Britannia.
The time at which the first round was finished was Valkyrie 1.32.50 Britannia, 1.44-59, Ailsa 1.46.48. The wind was still light.
Valkyrie won by fifteen minutes, Britannia second.

YALE AND CAMBRIDGE.

The English Institution will Accept the American College's Challenge.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript]
LONDON, July 6.—W. J. Oakley, president of Cambridge Athletic team, says that Cambridge has decided to accept Yale's challenge if satisfactory arrangements for the contest can be made.

KENTUCKY POPULISTS CONVENE

They Want Free and Unlimited Silver, But No Woman's Suffrage.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript]
LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 6.—Kentucky Populists were in session yesterday. Resolutions passed endorsed the Omaha platform and declared for free and unlimited coinage of silver, 16 to 1. A delegation of women urged the convention to adopt a plank endorsing woman's suffrage, but it was voted down.

CUBAN CHANCES BRIGHTER.

Young Campos Captured. Reward for Gomez or Maceo Dead or Alive.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript]
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 6.—A despatch from Key West says, private advices from Havana state that the chances for Cuban success grow brighter every day.
It is reported in Havana that the son of Martinez Campos was captured by insurgents at the battle of Grand Piedro and is dangerously sick with fever. It is also reported that the Spanish government has offered a big reward for the capture of Gomez and Maceo, dead or alive.

POSTAL WILL NOT SELL.

The Standard Telephone Company's Big Offer Refused.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript]
NEW YORK, July 6.—The report from Chicago that $15,000,000 has been offered by the Standard Telephone company for controlling interest in the Postal Telegraph company so that the wires of the corporation could be used in competition with the Bell Telephone company was confirmed by Manager Bradley of the Postal company. The offer has been rejected, however, as the officials of the company did not care to part with the property.

FREE SILVER ADVOCATES.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript]
COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 6.—Allan W.
Thurber has called a conference of free silver advocates of all parties in Ohio to be held next Wednesday.

A STRANGE YOUNG WOMAN.

Claims that a Mayor's Son Married and Deserted Her.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript]
BUZZARDS BAY, July 6.—A young woman named Amy Worthing, 30 years old, came here a few days ago and engaged a house of Mrs. Hathaway for three months. She brought no baggage and suspicions were aroused. She gave the name of Mrs.
March of Middleboro as reference. The latter came immediately to Buzzards Bay and had the girl placed in charge of an officer to be taken to her home in South Hanson where her mother resides.
The mother knew nothing of her daughter's whereabouts. The young woman claimed to have been married recently to the son of the mayor of a large Massachusetts city and that he had deserted her.
It is thought she is mentally unsound.

HIRAM A. BLOOD DEAD.

A Well Known Railroad Man Succumbs to Heart Disease.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript]
FITCHBURG, July 6.—Hiram A. Blood, aged 62 years, died last evening of heart disease. He had been manager of the Boston, Clinton & Fitchburg railroads, and president of the Cleveland & Canton road. He leaves two sons, Judge Charles H. Blood of Fitchburg and Eber Blood of Cleveland, Ohio, and two daughters unmarried. Mr. Blood was one of the best known railroad men of New England.

TEN THOUSAND DOLLAR FIRE.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript]
BOSTON, July 6.—Fire broke out this morning in the basement of the Boston Penny Savings Bank building, 1375 Washington street, and damaged the stock of Lamb Furniture company about $10,000.
The loss was covered by insurance.

Pettit For Governor.

LOUISVILLE, July 6.—The women's rights plank was overwhelmingly rejected by the Populists. A motion to endorse union made was then rejected. For governor, Thomas S. Pettit, lieutenant governor, John S. Baird, treasurer, M. R.
Gardner, auditor, C. H. Dean; registrator of land, J. M. Quick; attorney general, S. M. Peyton; secretary of state, Don Singletary.

Sixteen Known to Be Dead.

PANAMA, July 6.—A boiler in the electric light plant at Cartagena exploded.
A number of prisoners who were confined in the jail near the works were killed.
The shock threw down two buildings in the neighborhood. So far it is known that 16 persons were killed. Many others are supposed to be entombed in the ruins of the plant, which was totally wrecked.

An Indiana Riot.

ELGIN, Ind., July 6.—A serious riot occurred at a picnic in Sabara, in which more than 200 men and women participated. Three persons are dead and 50 wounded. Sabara is 15 miles from a railroad, in the wild west part of Perry county.
It was a Catholic picnic, and was interrupted by anti-Catholics.

Shil in a Tangle.

CHICAGO, July 6.—Judge Shawalter restored a formal order affirming the decree of sale of the 18 plants of the Whisky trust. The sale is not assured, however, as the Circuit Court and Morris interests gave notice of an appeal, and the case will be heard by the United States court of appeals.

A Lumber Trust.

SAVANNAH, July 6.—Articles of incorporation for the Southern Pine company of Georgia were applied for here yesterday.
The capital stock, already paid in in full is $1,250,000, with privilege of increasing to $3,000,000. The new company will endeavour, it is said, to control the yellow pine market.

Left to American Prelates.

ROME, July 6.—A committee of the archbishops of Baltimore, Boston, New York and Philadelphia have been requested by the pope to propose three candidates for the vacant post of rector of the North American college at Rome.

The New Havana.

HAVANA, July 6.—Campos has reorganized the city government, appointing on the council 11 Conservatives, 3 Reformists and 4 Autonomists. The mayoralty, it is said, was tendered a prominent Cuban but he refused.

AN OLD BILL.

Of Greater Value as a Curiosity Than It Ever Was as Cash.

A resident of this town possesses a reminder of "wildcat" banking days in the form of a bill issued by a bank of that description which was started at Adams in 1837. The bank did business only a few months, and those who remember it say it was a fraud from the start, and that nearly every one who had anything to do with it in any way, shape or manner paid dearly for his experience. However that may be, the bank was in existence long enough to float some of its bills, and it is one of those that is referred to. The bill is of a denomination unknown in these days—$1.25. It is printed only on one side, which is illustrated with pictures of a locomotive, several vessels with sails set and a spread eagle. These pictures were probably designed to convey the impression that the issue of the bank was good on land and sea throughout the entire domain of the "bird of freedom," but if any such impression was created it was of short duration, for in a very short time it was demonstrated that the bills were of no value anywhere. The bill in question was No. 25 and must therefore have been among the earliest issues of the bank. It bears the signature of the cashier, E. A. Stanbury. The bill is well preserved and its value as a relic far exceeds any other it ever had.

Tower--Dean.

Fred R. Tower and Miss Bertha Dean were quietly married Wednesday evening at the home of the groom on East Quincy street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. George W. Brown and only the families of the bride and groom were present. Mr. and Mrs. Tower have returned from a brief wedding trip and are living at No. 57 East Quincy street. The best wishes of all their friends are cordially extended.

NEW MILLS!

North Adams Industrial
Good Fortune.

MORE COTTON GOODS

Beaver and Eclipse Mills to be Doubled in Capacity.

Very Large New Buildings!
New Machinery and Work for Hundreds!

WORK TO BE BEGUN AT ONCE

It is now North Adams' turn to rejoice again in the assured fact of an immense addition to her manufacturing interests.
Perhaps no more important industrial matter was ever concluded at a single time in this place than the decision reached last evening at the office of the Arnold Print works whereby this town is to have what will virtually be two very large new cotton mills.

The final decision and plans for the additions, or, rather, re-making of the present Eclipse and Beaver mills was reached late yesterday afternoon, when F. P.
Sheldon, mill engineer and architect, of Providence, R. I., was here in consultation with the projectors of the increased enterprise. Mr. Sheldon is the designer of the Berkshire mills, including the new mill No. 3.

The increase to North Adams manufactories is to consist in additions to both the Beaver and Eclipse mills that will more than double the size and capacity of those mills as they stand at present.

The firm of Gallup & Houghton are to build a new structure in addition to the Beaver mill, just above the present building on stream. The building will be of brick or iron and is to be 200 feet in length, 75 feet in width and 3 stories high. The capacity of this addition will be 24,000 spindles and 600 looms, and itself will make employment for a force considerably larger than that of the present Beaver mill. In this new building and entirely occupying it will be the looms of the Beaver mill as newly provided and made over.

The mill will be equipped with entirely new and the most modern machinery, and will have a new steam plant to meet the increased need of power.

The Eclipse mill is to be added to and, at least, doubled in size and capacity by the Arnold Print works. The new structure here is to be of the same dimensions and material as the new building at the Beaver, namely 200 feet long, 75 feet wide and 3 stories high. The addition will be built on the ground below the present structure, reaching to within ten or fifteen feet of Stroud's store, necessitating the removal of the houses standing on this spot at present. The capacity of the new structure will be 24,000 spindles and 600 looms. As at the Beaver, also, the looms will occupy the entire addition. The machinery here, too, will be from the best American and English builders.

Both mills are to manufacture fine cottons.

Some idea of the importance to North Adams industrial life in these additional enterprises may be seen when it is considered that they are calculated to more than double the output of the present Beaver and Eclipse mills, and will give additional employment to more than 600 people.

Porter & Houghton have the contracts for the new buildings, which were closed today. Work is to be begun at once and pushed as rapidly as possible, and it is expected that the new factories will be ready for occupation not later than December 1.

CHARGED WITH BRIBERY.

A Charlemont Man's Desire for a State Road Gets Him Into Trouble.

There is a case coming before the grand jury at the sitting of the superior court in Greenfield next week which will attract more than local notice. It is a case of bribery and the charges preferred against Frederick Baker, the miller at Charlemont, who is best known by his eccentricity in thinking he can locate veins of ore in the hills of western Franklin. The charge is an attempt to bribe the state highway commissioners.
A few weeks ago Mr. Baker wrote a letter to the state highway commission at Boston in which, it is claimed, he offered a sum of money to the members if they would order a certain stretch of road built at the expense of the state.

Mr. Baker says he did not know that he had committed any crime by offering money to commissioners. No such excuse as this would satisfy the commissioners, however, for they placed the facts in the hands of District Attorney Aiken of Greenfield. Mr. Baker will have to answer to the charge of bribery before the grand jury next week. The penalty for bribery is imprisonment in state-prison for a term not exceeding five years, or three years in the house of correction, or a fine not exceeding $3000.

CHIVALRY AND KNIGHTHOOD.

Hesse-Cassel has an order entitled the Iron Holmet.

In 1352 the Order of the Knot was founded in Naples.

Four Italian orders, established at different times, bear the title, "Order of the Cross of Christ."

Portugal has a number of orders, the most highly honored being the Order of Avis, founded in 1162.

The Order of the Crown of India is one of the latest. It is for the benefit of the ladies and was founded in 1877.

The most ancient English decoration was the Order of the Round Table, said to have been founded in 516 or 528.

There are eight Orders of Merit, belonging respectively to Bavaria, Belgium, Hesse-Cassel, Baden, Oldenburg, Prussia, Saxony and Wurttemberg.

The Scottish Order of St. Andrew is claimed to be one of the oldest in Europe.
It was founded in honor of the patron saint of the country in 787.

The Order of the Elephant is the strange and out of the way title of nobility conferred in Denmark by Christian I. Why the elephant should have been chosen has never been made apparent.

The Order of St. Constantine claims to be one of the oldest in existence, dating back its history to A. D. 313. For hundreds of years it was extinct, but was revived by Russia in the last century.

The Order of the Bath was revived by Henry IV in 1399 and was revived by George I. The number of knights is limited, and to be a member of the order is considered one of the highest distinctions of an English nobleman.

The Order of the African Star was founded in 1888 for the purpose of rewarding the adventurers who took part in the colonization of the Congo valley. As yet it has achieved no very prominent place among the orders of knighthood.—St.
Louis Republic.

RIVAL CITIES.

If a man does something big, the Chicago papers claim he is a Chicago man whether he comes from Chicago or not.—
Los Angeles Express.

In New York the people are so mad at trying to enforce the Sunday closing that in thousands of side door saloons they fairly froth at the mouth.—Philadelphia Times.

The Sun's latest fad is to drop the "New" from "New York." Then spell it as many of your people speak it—"Yok." That's a fine name for the American metropolis.—Buffalo Express.

Charleston people claim that is the coolest city in the country during the summer months. In this respect Charleston seems to differ very materially from some of her most prominent citizens.—Cleveland Press.

Now that genuine reform has taken hold of the New York police department Chicago will have only San Francisco to dread as a rival in the production of murder mysteries.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Not content with stealing our territory and pilfering our citizens, St. Paul has even the nerve to purloin the gallows that we bought and paid for. Still it would be all right if St. Paul could only make an industrious use of the same.—Minneapolis Journal.

The esteemed Sun is busily advocating the adoption of Manhattan as a name for the Greater New York. Brooklyn is a more appropriate name than Manhattan.
Park row, West Brooklyn, would look well as the address on the envelopes of The Sun's correspondence.—Brooklyn Eagle.

PEN, CHISEL AND BRUSH.

R. H. Parks, the sculptor of Chicago, is to make a bronze bust of the late Secretary Gresham.

Charles G. Leland, the greatest living authority on gypsy legends, has been deliv-ing into Italian folklores and will soon publish his researches.

Among the French men of letters who ride the bicycle are Emile Zola, Jules Le-maitre, Jean Richepin, Henri de Regnier, Octave Mirbeau and Arthur Meyer.

Frank R. Stockton recently told a friend that almost every fortnight still brought to him some solution of the problem couched in his famous story of "The Lady or the Tiger?"

Sir John Tenniel, the famous Punch cartoonist, is tall, erect and slim. His appearance, with his straight shoulders and white moustache stiffly curled, is that of a soldier rather than an artist.

Franz Defregger, the famous German artist, passed his sixtieth birthday in his villa near Bozen a few days ago. He is now at work on a great altar piece—St.
Joseph—for a new church of Bozen.

THE JEWEL CASKET.

Silver chains follow the gold chains in style, pearls, turquoises and emeralds taking the places of the more precious stones.

Diamond brooches take the form of fine flowers twisted into round forms. Forget-me-nots and maiden's hair fern seem to prevail.

Back combs have taken on a new style.
The shell is outlined in ornamental curves, and these are defined with small pearls set between lines of gold.

A feature of the season is the long watch chains. These are apparently derived from the long fob chain. The simplest forms are the fine meshed chains punctuated with stones.

Old shaped gems are worked into the grotesque and unique styles of jewelry now worn. A large pear shaped pearl is used to represent the body of a butterfly, which has an emerald head and gold filigree wings, with waving lines of small diamonds and ruby spots.—Jewelers' Circular.

THE COLORED BROTHER.

The high toned restaurants can endure the colored brother with more equanimity than the colored brother can the prices of said restaurants.—Troy Press.

Colored men have the best of it now. If they are not well served at a hotel or restaurant, they can get $500 damages. A white man similarly treated, as white men often are, can do nothing but grin and bear it.—Rochester Democrat.

YOUNG EMMET.

Young Joe Emmet imitates his father in everything, even to "drinking the same kind of rum."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Actor Emmet is making good his name.
His hats seem to be as monumental as any that were ever recorded against the late lamented.—Buffalo Enquirer.

LONDON, July 6.—Henry Matthews, who was home secretary in Lord Salisbury's cabinet in 1881 to 1882, has been raised to a peerage.

COTTON IN BERKSHIRE.

Elsewhere in this issue we announce another great addition to the cotton manufacturing industry of Berkshire county. It was only a fortnight ago that the public became apprised of the fact that another immense mill to be erected at the cost of $1,000,000 and to be known as Berkshire Mill No. 3 was to be the good fortune of Adams. And now North Adams people are the recipients of like good news, which we trust will be shared with the same spirit of rejoicing throughout Berkshire as that which greeted the news of the new Adams mill. We even look for congratulations from Pittsfield, even though the enlarged enterprise of the Arnold Print Works will endanger by a good many hundreds (the shirt town's present lead in population. In fact, both Adams and North Adams feel as if they were ready to receive respectful salutes from all the cotton manufacturing towns of New England.

This new addition to the industrial life of North Adams is a matter of sincere congratulation to the people of this town. It means that as a town we are pushed just so much nearer the front rank of wide-awake, grogging, New England cities. It means an increase of population and business. It means more trade for our merchants and a larger market for all local producers. It means a rapid appreciation of real estate. And best of all, it means a large increase of employment under a corporation which is everywhere and generally recognized as fair and generous in its dealing with labor.

Success to the new mills! Long may they hum, and may smoke always pour out of their chimneys, unless the new smoke consuming apparatus consume it!

THE NEXT GREAT SPORT EVENT.

The annual athletic excitement, so far as collegiate sports are concerned, are at an end in this country for this year. Yale has trounced Harvard in football, baseball and rowing, Columbia has shown both Cornell and "Penn" some points about rowing in the Hudson, and our own Williams is won a New England baseball pennant. But this is not the end of the collegiate sports for the year, as is the usual case. America has a plucky college crew awaiting a battle of the oars on the Thames at Henley, England. The race is to come off on July 9, 10, and 11, and Cornell represents America.

This visit of the Cornell crew to England is made gratuitously and the Americans are in no way responsible for the "cup" which sporting cities have made regarding the advent of the crewmen from New York state. For some time the English cities were positive that the Cornell crew had practically no chance to win the grand challenge cup; but within the past week doubts as to the infallibility of that judgment have arisen.

To a certain extent Cornell would win more glory by winning the grand challenge cup than by defeating both Oxford and Cambridge, because the Henley regatta is usually considered the rowing event of the year. The grand challenge cup is the principal prize, but contests are also held for other important prizes, among which are the diamond challenge sculls for "scullers," and the stewards' challenge cup for "coxswains." Inasmuch as the regatta was established in 1839 and many of the prizes were established between that date and 1855, the Henley regatta has long been one of the chief sporting events of the year in Great Britain.

The Henley course is not over four miles as the Poughkeepsie or New London course, but extends for one mile and 550 yards, the narrowness of the Thames at Henley allowing but two crews to row over the course together. This rule, restricting the number of crews in each contest, necessitates the division of the race into a number of "heats." The first heat is usually started at noon, while the last is rowed about eight o'clock at night, it being quite light enough in that latitude for the crews to row without accident, in spite of the fact that the course is only 130 feet wide.

It is evident that the crowd at Henley this year will be even larger than usual; and that is saying much, as the crowds on "cup day" sometimes number nearly 100,000 people. Americans who are in England just now and that it is almost impossible even at this date to secure rooms in that locality for next week; but the crowd which will be interested in the result will far outnumber the vast assembly which will be seen along the banks of the Thames next week.

CALL THEM PATRIOTS.

A down-trodden, tar-ridden people are boldly striking for liberty in Cuba. Freedom has found another land where men are willing to die rather than live politically enslaved. Spain, the home of the inquisition, the retreat of the pirate and the buccaner, the old robber of the new world, and the extortioner of her own colonies, has notification that the smooth-tongued spirit of liberty in her great island possession of Cuba will endure no longer the cruel taxes and burdens imposed by a tyrant government at Madrid. Let Americans rejoice that the watchfires of liberty are lit on the flowery plains and in the tangled swamp of Cuba! Those fires are fed by the same spirit that fed the signal lantern a century ago in the window of old South church in Boston and lit the beacon lights on the hill tops about Lexington and Concord. It is the spirit of liberty. It is the American

American sympathy, although the rules of international law forbid American support, because it is the spirit of self-government, it is the spirit that defies tyranny and tells the tyrant to hold his grasping hand that wrings money from the very blood of his victims.

These are reasons why American sympathy should go to Cuba. These are reasons why no one should call the revolutionists in Cuba "rebels," but should rather cheer them on as patriots. Let Spain and all that is characteristic of the old Spanish rule be the world over quit the shores of the new world.

The would-be saloon keepers of North Adams are making a big hustle to get the three or four licenses which can be granted on the increase in population which will be shown by the new census. At present there are but sixteen saloons in the town; and if it is anything like Pittsfield, and local pride would keep us from exalting, her moral tone in comparison, we are of the opinion that sixteen saloons are perfectly adequate for keeping the inhabitants of the tunnel city in a very comfortable and natural state of inebriation.—Pittsfield Journal.

Well, North Adams isn't anything like Pittsfield, and so this judgment may not hold. And who knows that the same amount of inebriating liquid will inebriate equally in Pittsfield and North Adams? The strong, robust, active, wide-awake Saxon of Northern Europe in olden times would drink before breakfast an ordinary health that would send his puny, peewee, effeminate southern neighbor of Europe into jim jams. And there is northern and southern Berkshire just as there was northern and southern Europe. North Adams don't need Pittsfield's advice, even on the proper amount of consuming drink.

The so-called Democracy in this country is not and never has been government by the people. For fifty years in southern states it has been government by landlords, who were slave owners and have all the temper of slave-owners still. Nearly as long, in cities which turn the other way, other states and control their votes, it has been a despotism of the rascals. The men, and only the men, who were willing to help the rascals in every defeat of the right of suffrage, in every fraud and crime for the purpose of robbing honest voters of their sovereignty, and in every scheme to rob and blackmail the people for the benefit of the ruling ring had a real share in the government. The result was some accidental and sporadic failure of the bandits to use their power, had no more real share in the government than the slaves. This was Democracy, and would be still, if the party had not been whipped almost out of existence by its own crimes and follies.—N. Y. Tribune.

One of Boston's leading dailies, after enumerating to the extent of a column the glories and beauties of the Hub city, ends its edifying editorial with this rather unedifying confession as to the city's real claim to greatest preeminence: "Kingsdom may rise and fall, planets may spring into being and grow cold, but so long as Boston has the steamed clam as it now is, all peoples in other climes must make their annual pilgrimage hither." Oh, where is the baked bean? Has it been thus feckly thrown aside for so clammy a thing?

Oliver Curtis Perry, somewhat locally known in North Adams, may have recovered his reason. At any rate, the authorities at Mattawan found him a very troublesome patient. His return to Auburn will revive the popular suspicion that this desperate and cunning criminal was never insane at all. The best thing that can be done with Perry is to keep him locked up and safely guarded until he has served his sentence. A great deal of unmerited sympathy has been wasted upon him, and few persons really believe he was insane.

And now the plan is to reach the north pole by means of a manageable balloon. The French Academy of Sciences believes the project feasible. The scheme is this: To start from Spitzbergen, only about eight degrees from the pole, where the currents are constant and directly north, and from which point it is thought the journey to the pole would be only a matter of three or four days. The trouble some question is about the return.

The retiring premier of England, Lord Rosebery, has thus declared war on the British House of Lords: "There is one question that embraces all others which were before the late government, namely, the domination of the House of Lords. The existence of their power relegates the House to a position of impotence in the councils of the nation. On this question I am pledged to fight the coming election."

Mrs. O'Leary, whose cow kicked over the lantern which started the great Chicago fire in 1871, is dead. She always claimed that the cow was guileless of the accusation. However this may be, only wish Mrs. O'Leary less trouble from flames in the world whither she has gone than she had in this mundane sphere.

The condition of Prince Bismarck's health is critical. He is said to be breaking down under old age and grief for his dead wife.

A PLEASANT RECEPTION.

Large Company Entertained at St. Francis' Parsonage Last Evening.

A reception was tendered at St. Francis' parsonage last evening to those who assisted in conducting the lawn festival Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. About 100 were present and a very enjoyable social time was had. Instrumental music was furnished by an orchestra and there was singing by various members of the company. The house was thrown open from end to end and the large company enjoyed themselves to the utmost. A few informal remarks were made by Rev. Fathers Burke, Ivers and Flynn, in which they expressed their appreciation of the services of all who had helped to make the festival such a complete success. Refreshments were served by McNeil and nothing was wanting that could add to the pleasure of the occasion. The net profits of the festival were between $1,000 and $1,500.

Shot Through the Foot.

A very painful accident happened to a small boy a few days ago that was caused by recklessness. Jamie Robinson and his chum, Bertie Fake both of Houghtonville, were enjoying a stroll through the woods and were picking flowers. A rivalry sprang up between them and they strove to see which could collect the largest and best bunch. While engaged in this pastime both made a grab for the same flower and Jamie got it. Bert had a revolver and in sport said, "I'll shoot you." Saying this he fired a shot into the ground behind Jamie. Jamie jumped so high that Bert fired another shot in fun. But the second did more harm than the first, for the bullet entered Jamie's heel and went through the foot. Jamie was able to limp home with difficulty and the wound was dressed by Dr. Curran.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

—Raymond Sanford injured his eye by the explosion of powder on the Fourth.
—George Fuller of Renfrew was burned about the face by powder on July 4th.

—The plants at the soldiers' monument are now in full bloom and are an ornament to the monument and the town.
—Thomas Gunning's three-tenement block at the corner of Lincoln and Grant streets is nearing completion.

—The band concert on the Drury grounds last night was enjoyed by a large number of people.

—Ralph Brown of North Vezzie street suffered a painful pain on the hand while engaged in Fourth-of-July sport.

—There will be dancing at the park this evening from 7 to 10.15, if the weather permits. Music by the park orchestra.

—The paving of the gutter on the north side of Summer street is nearly completed and a new concrete walk will soon be laid.

—The criminal term of the superior court will open Monday at 11 o'clock with the sitting of the grand jury. Judge Gaskell will preside.

—Timothy, the four-years-old son of Thomas McCarthy, fell last night and his right elbow was fractured. Dr. O. J. Brown attended.

—A party of Pittsfield people visited the summit of Greylock July 4. They went to Adams by rail and walked from that town to the mountain top.

—Charles E. Stevens and family have moved from their former residence, 16 North street, Joseph Smith has purchased the place and now occupies it.

—James Martin, who is employed at Hunters, caught the little finger of his right hand last night between a shafting and a chain. The finger was badly lacerated. Dr. Stafford dressed the finger.

—The Congregational Sunday school would have had an excursion today to Cole's grove, Williamstown, had the weather been fine. It will take place some day next week and will be something like a basket picnic.

—The main part of W. G. Cady's house is now being moved to Porter street, to which place the ell was moved some days ago. Work on the new house will begin at an early day. The plans were drawn by Architect L. Neil Wilson of Pittsfield.

—Joseph McAdoo says the parties who some time ago bought mining rights on his farm on the east road to Adams have made no further moves, so far as he knows, and he is wondering what is to be done of the enterprise.

—Michael Cavanaugh was discharged today on the charge of selling liquor to a minor on the grounds that he was not responsible for the act of his servant when absent. It was held that the servant was responsible for his own act, so a warrant was issued for the servant, Michael Cavanaugh, Mr. Cavanaugh's namesake.

—Newton C. Bond of Fitchburg has sold the Arnold print works an iron and steel bridge of sixty-five feet span, with fifteen feet roadway. This bridge replaces the old wooden structure at the end of the machine shop and is designed to carry very heavy loads. It is to be in place and ready for use in forty days.

—The strawberry season is about closed. It has been a long and prolific one and undoubtedly more of the berries have been consumed in this town than ever before in any single year. There were some in the market today which came from Williamstown, but not many more will be offered this year.

—The flower mission department of the Loyal Temperance legion distributed seventy bouquets among sick people during the month of June, and the literature committee distributed a considerable quantity of reading matter. The next regular meeting of the legion will be held Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Rescue mission building on Marshall street.

—Elwin J. Orandall of Savoy Center has sold the Eddy farm at Dalton to Mr. Hosford of Williamstown. Mr. Hosford will build at once a henery 115 feet long and will go into the chicken raising business extensively. The farm is noted for its maple sugar product and Mr. Hosford will devote special attention to sugar manufacture.—Republican.

—Major Hough has received from the war department a map of the battlefield of Antietam, with the request that he locate upon it the position of his regiment (Ninth New Hampshire) in that engagement and return the map to Washington. The government has bought the field for a park and will erect a monument to each regiment taking an important part in the battle, and these monuments will be erected, as nearly as possible, on the ground the regiment occupied in the fight.

—The owners of the Zoar sulphur mine visited the place Thursday and made ar-once. A section of what is called the roof of the mine will be taken off. This section is twelve feet wide, twenty-five feet long and fifteen feet deep at one end, and it is believed the removal of it will uncover a vein of very valuable ore. Louis Courtois, who discovered the mine, will have charge of the work. Tools for doing the work were sent to the mine yesterday.

—While the 4th of July celebration was in progress some one placed a cannon firecracker in the covered driveway by W. H. Lally & Co.'s coal office and touched it off. Mr. Lally was enjoying his after-supper smoke in the office and the explosion startled him so that he bit the amber mouthpiece of his pipe in two as easily as a boy would a stick of candy. No further damage resulted, the perpetrators of the joke having been suddenly called to other fields of activity and cussedness.

—W. E. Wood, the proprietor of the restaurants along the line of the Fitchburg road, is making arrangements to furnish meals at Greenfield for the Christian Endeavor delegates when they pass over the road in force next week. It is expected that 200 or more will go through Greenfield Tuesday evening, and that will be the advance guard. This train will come from the waiting room of the station and also under the projections outside the station. Wednesday morning it is expected that two trains direct from St. Louis will bring 250 delegates each.

MONEY IS NOT NEEDED.

Contributions to Ireland's Fighting Factions Simply Thrown Away.

Cause of Home Rule Is Steadily Receding.

Erin's Exiled Sons in Massachusetts Sound a Note of Warning.

Boston, July 6.—Irish Nationalists of this city held a conference here with 200 men, representing all sections of the state, for the purpose of taking action on the present crisis in Ireland. The conference motto adopted was "No money to help the factions fight each other." The following address to Irishmen of Massachusetts was drawn up:

"To the Irishmen of Massachusetts: In the present deplorable condition of the home rule movement in Ireland it behooves the Irishmen of the United States to make no false step. Their action may either add to the present strife and turmoil or restore union and vitality in the old land.

"The Irish members of parliament are split into two contending parties. In the war of faction and personal strife of leaders the interests of Ireland are forgotten and the old flag is trailed in the dust.

"Rival appeals have been sent to the Irish people in America for funds to aid the factions to fight each other at the polls. Every dollar contributed for such purpose might as well be flung into a sewer or sent to the English secret service fund. No man of common sense can imagine that he is serving Ireland by helping to keep Irishmen divided.

Home Rule Ignored.
 "The home rule cause has gone back steadily for the past three years through blind trust in English promises. The Liberal government has not fulfilled a single one of the pledges it made at the opening of the session. It has shelved home rule, closed the doors on the political prisoners, left the evicted tenants in the lurch and allowed the coercion act to remain on the statute book, ready to the hand of the Tories when they came into power after the election. Worse than all, it insulted Ireland by proposing to compensate the whole of the plunder and extermination of the Irish people and the cold-blooded butcheries of Drogheda and Wexford by erecting a statue out of the public funds to Oliver Cromwell. Then it turned over the reins of government to the Tories without a word of warning to its Irish supporters, to whose votes it owed its very existence for the past three years.

"Why should you give your money to continue a policy that has brought only humiliation and disaster? Ireland needs no money to settle the question of policy and of union. If she emerges from the electoral struggle united in favor of the old policy of Parnell, then she will need all the financial aid her exiled sons can give her, and she will get it without stint. Money sent before election can do nothing but harm. If factions strife is to be prolonged, let the Irishmen of Massachusetts have no responsibility for it."
